

Search this career on Unifrog!

Town Planner

Click here to watch videos

Town planners help decide the ways spaces in towns and cities should be used and built, based on what works for the land and for the people living there.

Entry routes:

- You'll need an undergraduate or a postgraduate degree in a subject like town planning, urban planning, or urban design. Or a related subject like architecture, environment and development, or engineering.
- You could study part-time for a qualification while working in a role like planning technician or support staff member.

Chartered architectural technologists, planning officers and consultants salary: £36,600

Working hours: You'll usually work 35 to 40 hours a week. You may also attend events like public meetings in the evenings.

Business, media and public service professionals:

UK growth: +17%, an increase in 436,252 jobs from 2020-2035

West Midlands growth: +17.2%, an increases of 30, 452 jobs from 2020-2035

Character virtues

respect, responsibility, compassion, creativity

Key words

plans, surveying, geographical, transport, systems, redesign, urban, decisions, applications